Happy Eckstone went in to twirl while a runner was on every sack, and the Happy had be a good game for Norfolk, and he had gilt-edgs support, not a saflor on the crew of the Sarah Jane making an error. The inability of the Lawmakers to land on the sphere at the proper time wrote Richmond's defeat in large letters. The goose egg was presented before an audience that encircled the diamond and numbered something more than two thousand souls.

Richmond got her hits at inopportune times. While the Lawmakers got one more safe swat than did Norfolk, Norfolk got hers at a time when they councid. Benbow's slashing drive to left fleat in the fourth inning gave two of the rone to the visitors, Cowan misjudging sligatly the ball and letting it get over his head. But the drive was such a terrime one and almost on a straight line, that a fleater would be excused for not handling it time. Evans and Clarke came over on the hit, and, Benbow tugged at the second sack until Reynolds and Oley had died. Reynolds popped up to Hamilton at third and Otey fanned the almosphere. Incidentally, Otey killed some microes four times. And Hopkins, the man who furthed the second sack until four times in Thursday's game, got transportation four times yesterday. He is about even now, and what he will do to-day is only to be reckoned. But there are those who sincerely trust that he will not get four hits.

The first linning started off all right for the Lawmakers, Laval having good control and not permitting the men to time Hopkins got his seat on the Runner Forced in.

This inning started off like this: Dingle got a meal ticket good at the first lunch counter. McMahon attenuted a sacrifice, and Cuddy, threw the ball to second to stop Dingle. Reeve dropped it, and both men were safe when a double should have been made. Settz landed on first on Hamilton's error. This filled the sacks and no one was out. Hopkins came up again, and after Laval had two strikes on him, he got four balls and walked. Dingle had to vacate the third station to give room for McMahon, who needed the position about this time.

Manager Shaffer beckoned to Eckstone, and Laval walked to the bench. Happy went in without much warming up, and he showed what he was made of. Hinton snapped the ball down to first, and Hopkins was caught playing off. Shaffer sent the ball back to Hinton, letting Hopkins go, and playing for the runner between home and ihird.

The ball was passed between Hamilton and Hinton and the latter touched the runner, who had dodged out of the line. This made the first out. Evans popped one to Cuddy in left, and Clarke sent out on a fly to Shaffer. The anxiety was over and not a run had bean made after Eckstone stuck his toe in the box.

McMahon Was Benched.

McMahon claimed that Hinton hid hot touch him, and made his kick to Umpire llofiner. He was told to go back, and again protested. For the second offenes he was benched. This same player has been benched before, yet he doesn't seem to learn very much. Maybe before the end of the season he will wake up to the fact that the umpire is the boss. But then he has red hair and perhaps he can't help it. In Norfolk he was fined by a magistrate for using bad language in front of the grand-stand.

Manager Clark, of Norfolk, warned all of his players to stop kicking, and Mr. Hannan, who is the owner of the club, does not countenance protests being made when there are no protests due the players.

In lo-day's game Colonel Still, the Kentucky warbling willow-wielder and spherical switching swinger, will be in the box, and he will win. The Colonel has corns on his hands now, and he knows what the players can't tuch. He is the apple dumpling of the Richmond team, and he is fit for fast company next year.

Brooks, the Barton Heights pitcher, who is doing good work for Norfolk, and who has many friends here, will likely do the honers for the visitors.

PORTEMOUTH, VA., June 15.—In a pitchers' battle between Schumann and Carter, Lynchburg defeated Portsmouth here to-day by a score of 2 to 0. Bottle of Lynchburg's runs resulted from bases on balls. Portsmouth had whree new men in the game, and the improvement in the all-round work of the Truckors was noticeable. Both teams fielded brilliantly. Portsmouth had several chances to the the score, but the hits were not forthcoming, and but one of the locals reached third base.

NORFOLK, VA., June 15.—The Norfolk baseball team is to have a Mathewson on its pitching staff. He is a real Mathewson, a brother of the famous Christy, who himself was once upon a time a member of the Norfolk team. Manager Clark has already sisned him, and he, along with Miller, another pitcher, are expected to report to the club before it leaves Richmond.

This young Mathewson is owned by New York Asserican-Teague club. He has been farmed out to Norfolk. He is said to be as promising as a pitcher as his brother was in his sarly days. When Christy played with Nagjolk, out of twenty games he pitched he won nineteen of them. Norfolk Team.

clutions to the Council of the city of olutions to the Council of the city of Richmond."
From this, it is plain that, with prompt action by the City Council in the selection of a site and the appropriation of $60,000 more, a very handsome Confederate memorial half and auditorium can be constructed in time to furnish a place of assemblage for the various societies and organizations that will certainly come to Richmond in the year 1907.

It is to be noticed that the sum of $160,000 is to be applied to the building alone, and while there is a prospect of other sums being added, which will beautify, it not enlarge, this building, it is thought that that sum will of itself be sufficient to insure a spacious building.

ecutive Committee has arranged that the husiness may go on promptly. The money is in hand, and it is only necessary to get a site to be assured of the support of Richmond to the extent of $50,000, have the plans prepared, and go to work to put up the building.

The cordiality of the action by these trustees has asserted for them a place upon the gratitude of Richmond, which can be hest expressed by a prompf and decisive support of their patriotic leadership.

To the Council.

The committee of five, as provided for in the resolutions, to be appointed by the chairman of the Executive Committee, is composed of Messrs. Joseph Bryan, J. P. Smith, J. William Jones, George L. Christian and James Yass. The president of the Chamber of Commerce will name a similar committee to act with these syntemen in communicating the association's proposition to the Council of the city of Richmond.

The Confederate Memorial Association has now $106,000 in bank, and holds the dowment fund, which shall ever main-ten it, furnishing janitor, heat, light and repairs, without cost either to city or to the association.

The city has already promised $50,000, but this amount, the $40,000 yet due from the Rouss estate and other outstanding sifts, will swell the endowment fund to si00,000, forever relieving the city from the expense necessary in the proper maintenance of so important an institution as a convention hall and battle abbey.

Will Not Talk.

Mayor McCarthy, President Turpin and other influential members of the Coun-cil, were seen last night and asked for expressions concerning the proposition, but they refrained from discussing it in any manner whatever.

They said they had just heard of it, and preferred to give no expression at this time.

Hon. Charles H. Treat, Treasurer of the United States, was the principal speaker at the morning session of the Virginia Bankers' Association at Old Point to-day. His theme was "Uncle Sam as a Banker," and he spoke interestingly, naying a glowing tribute to the men working under him in the Treasurer's office, calling attention to their efficiency and reminding his hearers that they were all advanced in years, and most of them veterans of the Civil War. He also paid the women in his office a high tribute. Many of the women were appointed in the sixties, and have been in the office for more than forty years.

L. P. Hillyer, vice-president and cashler of the American National Bank at Macon, Ga., was the second speaker, his subject being "Dishonesty and the Punishment Therefor." He gave the Virginia financiers some valuable hints and a great deal of sound advice.

"The Value of Bank Examinations" was discussed by John O. Ellinston, vice-president of the Bank of Payetteville, N. C., and formerly bank examiner for his State.

A friend in that city writes The TimesDispatch that the Minneapolis real estate to advertise the city of Minneapolis, to gather statistics for the use of the real raised by subscription among the members of the board, and it is expected that

That is what the real estate agents of Minneapolis are dolne. If the real estate men or Richmond had an exchange and would pull together for the general good, they could do something like this, and they could do something like this, and they could count on a great deal of outside help. No men can possibly be more interested in the matter of advertising Richmond than the real estate men. Why shoeldn't they inaugurate a movement for the more extensive advertising of Richmond?

Should they inaugurate a movement like unto that in Minneapolis, they would be sustained and helped by all other interests in Richmond.
